

Department of Communication
Sciences and Disorders
Speech-Language and Hearing Center

SPEAK OUT! & LOUD Crowd

SPEAK OUT! and LOUD Crowd is a program developed specifically for people with Parkinson's Disease.

Research has shown that people who participate in SPEAK OUT! therapy sessions, home practice, and LOUD Crowd group therapy have made significant progress with:

- increased ability to converse successfully with their family and friends
- greater participation in their communities, work, and/or hobbies.

Learn how to enhance communication skills by improving your speech clarity and voice strength.

To obtain information about our next complimentary program, please contact Elizabeth Martin at the Speech-Language and Hearing Center (SLHC) @ 617-373-6891 or e.martin@northeastern.edu. Participation involves an initial evaluation, 4 weeks of individual therapy (3x/week), followed by weekly group therapy. SPEAK OUT! and LOUD Crowd services are being offered free of cost through participation in a research study investigating the effectiveness of this treatment on speech intelligibility and communicative participation.

Sessions are conducted by speech-language pathology graduate students and clinical supervisor Elizabeth Martin, MS, CCC-SLP.

How to sign up:

617-373-6891

e.martin@northeastern.edu

Behrakis Health Sciences Center 30 Leon Street, Suite 503 Boston, MA 02115

<https://bouve.northeastern.edu/csd/clinic/>

Free parking available in the building

 Northeastern University
Bouvé College of Health Sciences